TROPHIES AND PRIZES

TROPHIES

A trophy donated by the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club was the sole prize in the first Swiftsure Lightship Classic Race in 1930. It was not 1956 through 1959 that additional trophies were donated to recognize class or division winners and first to finish.

More trophies were acquired with the start of the Juan de Fuca Race and increased participation in all events. Even so, the explosive growth of the Swiftsure International Yacht Race in the late 70s and early 80s meant there were not a sufficient number of awards to cover all the divisions.

The start of the Cape Flattery Race and the participation of multihull yachts in the later 1980s led to a further growth in the Swiftsure trophy collection. It now numbers 45.

Each year, trophies are assigned for specific achievements, based on their past use, conditions in their deeds of gift, the number of divisions and other factors. From time to time it has been necessary to reallocate trophies as Swiftsure evolves.

PRIZES

While winners were permitted to retain trophies for a year, it is customary to also provide them with "keeper" prizes as permanent mementos of their achievements. For the past several years, many of these have been West Coast First Nations carvings mounted on a wood base with a suitably engraved plaque. Comments from recipients have been tremendously positive.

Yachts placing second and third in each division receive pennants.

AWARDS CEREMONIES

With the post-war Swiftsures initially held under the auspices of the PIYA, it was customary to present the Swiftsure trophies at the annual PIYA regatta, held on the July 1-4 weekends, in conjunction with other PIYA trophies.

This evolved in later years to a formal Swiftsure luncheon and trophy ceremony at Royal Victoria Yacht Club on the Friday before the next race. Skippers wore their white pants and blazers and the silver trophies shone; it was still manageable through the mid 1970s as the number of people attending was relatively small. By the late 1980s, increased participation forced a change.

In line with the desire to make the Inner Harbour a focal point for Swiftsure ashore, the trophy ceremony is now held downtown on the Friday before the races.
